Subj: Re: Dylan

Just wanted to let you know that he is doing fine. He has claimed his spot on the bed (Just below my pillow) and the old cats are accepting him. In fact, 2 of my old guys were eating out of the same dish with him this morning and giving him face washes. However, they are not real happy with him when he decides to play with their tails! All in all, things are going very well and he is just a real sweet kitten. We're very glad he chose us.
