Hello again Jeanne!

It has been such a great past few weeks with BeastMaster. We've had such a great experience thus far with him; so great that we have been debating on getting another bengal. We originally brought him home to keep our calico company, which he certainly has. They have become best friends and inseparable. It just may work out better with another bengal, that way our kitty girl can get a break once in a while. I saw that you had the charcoal kitten available, but I was wondering about any other kittens/cats you had for sale. The kitten is adorable, but we wouldn't mind bringing home an older kitty friend.

Thanks for your time,

Devan :)
