

Hi,

Hope all is well. Here are a few photos of Kato. He is hard to photograph because the only time he isn't running around he sleeps on your lap! He is growing in leaps and bounds. Today is the first day the cats are both loose in the house, we kept Kato separated until he got a bit bigger and faster. They are doing well. I wasn't able to take Kato out for our event-he does not like being held too long!

He sleeps with us every night, insists on taking showers every am with my husband, and then yells at him to lift him up so he can help him shave. Will send some more soon.
