Kabuki

Hi Rob and Jeanne,

First you should be getting a certification of Kabuki's neutering which took place on Mon. the 18th. He did good during surgery and craved attention during his stay at the vets and everyone had to keep talking to him.

He was glad to be home. Next let me tell you how much we love Kabuki. His hijinks keep me laughing a great deal. He has learned many things since his arrival and has no fear. He came right in and made himself at home. He is crazy about our Sebastian who had to have surgery and really wanted to be alone for awhile.

Kabuki would wait till Sebastian was asleep and sneak up on him, lay his head on him and put a paw around Sebastian's neck and go to sleep. He still doesn't like to be held but every night he sleeps on our bed. He likes to jump from the top of a chair half way across a room and land with all feet running. He has managed to land in the water bowl and his cat food. He eats well and most days he samples everyone's food. On the other hand our Caramel loves the kitten food. At Kabuki's visit to the vet he weighed 6lbs9oz. and is getting very long. His markings are getting darker and he is one of the prettiest cats I've ever seen. He is smart and I find him places I can't believe. He keeps me guessing most of the time. He likes to be wherever Sebastian is, so he sleeps in the window a lot. What fun! He does put a song in my heart!

Thanks, Roselyn
