Hi Jeanne and Rob

Just sending you an update and a merry Christmas. We named him Cooper and he is doing great. We can't believe how well he has adjusted. Cooper is the friendliest little boy. He loves to interact with everyone and constantly wants to play fetch with anything you can throw. We are going to make him an appointment today to visit the vet just for a check up. He can't seem to shake the sniffles. It's pretty minor but we figure it can't hurt and we will get their opinion on when to have him neutered. We are so happy with his disposition. Going back through the decades we have had only four cats and Cooper is by far the most personable little boy we have ever come across. He comes when he is called, tells him no once or twice and he stops, doesn't hide, and never fails to use his litter box. I hope his sister is doing OK without him.

Thanks

Matthew
